

Break Clean

Scenario 03 – 0500hrs, Day One

SOVIET OPERATIONS REPORT
UNIT	62 Guards Tank Regiment
DATE	Day One, 4 August 1985
TIME	0500hrs, dawn from 0500, light at 0530
REGION	Area S of WOLFENBUTTEL (Hex 1844)
TERRAIN	Town Sectors at 2000m centres, open farmland with occasional wood lines (300m max length). Water obstacle running North – South has wooded banks from point E northwards (count as tree lines). Occasional low hedges bounding fields. Good road network
Terrain Special Rules	All drains/ditches are only crossable at 1/3 speed by wheeled vehicles due to depth. Water obstacles only crossable by at permanent or tactical bridges due to bank construction.
WEATHER	Clear, becoming cloudy by 1200 light drizzle expected. Normal visibility
AIR SUPERIORITY	Soviet retains AS but no ground support or rotary wing support is available
ELECTRONIC WARFARE	Soviets may conduct 3 EW Missions
SCENARIO	Attack
DEPLOYMENT	62 Guards TR is to lead on the Div secondary axis, following a single route until enemy forces are encountered. The remainder of the Division is advancing to the N of WOLFENBUTTEL. 10 GTD are operating further to the South. German and British Combat Units have been encountered by other elements of the Division.

ORDERS
62 Guards TR is to continue to advance on SW axis, with the intention of clearing the enemy from the area of WOLFENBUTTEL and moving onwards into the enemy rear. It is to seize and effect a crossing over the water obstacle between DENTKE and WOLFENBUTTEL at C. Secondary crossing points are at B and E. The regiment is to advance on a single route from A to F and is under orders to bypass all positions above PI Strength and not become bogged down in attritional fighting in heavy terrain. You are not to deviate from route unless the enemy is defending crossings on the Northern Edge of your sector. You are then permitted to attempt to seize the crossing in the south (E). You may employ tactical bridging to cross obstacles but Div rear services require a navigable bridge to continue forward supply of ammunition. You are to exit point F with at least one battalion above 75% Combat Effectiveness by Turn 12.
